

Art. 8 Information on Personal Data Processing

The parties undertake to process personal data concerning this agreement in compliance with the provisions of E.U. Regulation no. 679/2016 and Legislative Decree no. 196/2003 integrated with the amendments introduced by Legislative Decree no. 101/2018.

By signing this agreement, each party declares to be informed of the use of its personal data by the other party for the following purposes:

- Management of the contractual/business relationship: the personal data of each party and of the persons acting for it are collected, recorded, rearranged, stored and used exclusively for activities functional to the stipulation and execution of the existing contractual relationship between the same parties, to the provision and management of related services and to the possible management of complaints. The legal bases of the processing are:

- execution of the contract for the personal data of the legal representative of each party;

- legitimate interest for the data of the employees/consultants of the parties, involved in the activities referred to in the contract.

- Administrative – accounting: invoicing; management of payments, delays and non-payment. The legal basis for the processing is the need to fulfil legal obligations to which the parties are subject.

- Fulfilment of obligations or exercise of rights provided for by national or European Union law or collective agreements in compliance with national law, such as: fulfilment of obligations provided for by EU and national laws, in particular laws, regulations, including contingent and urgent measures for the protection of public order, detection and prosecution of crimes. The legal basis for the processing is the need to fulfil legal obligations to which the parties are subject.

- If necessary, to ascertain, exercise and/or defend rights in court. The legal basis for the processing is the legitimate interest.

Personal data will be kept for the entire duration of the contract and, after its termination, for a further 10 years. In the event of litigation, for the entire duration of the same, until the terms of the appeal have been exhausted.

The processing of personal data may be carried out with the aid of both analogue and electronic or automated means, with methods and procedures strictly necessary to achieve the purposes described above.

Personal data may be processed by the employees of the parties responsible for pursuing the above mentioned purposes, who have been expressly authorised to do so and have received adequate operating instructions from their employer. Such data may also be communicated to third parties, in case such communication is necessary according to the fulfilments, rights and obligations connected to the execution of this agreement or if it would make easier the management of relations deriving from it. Personal data will not be subject to disclosure.

The parties also take note of the rights granted to them under articles 12-22 of EU Regulation 679/2016. In particular, the legislation on the protection of personal data guarantees each data subject the right to be informed of the processing of data and the right to access such data at any time and to request their updating, integration and rectification. In case the conditions set out in the legislation are met, the data subject may also have the right to have their data deleted, to have their processing restricted, to have their data transferred, to have the right to object to their processing and not to be subject to decisions based solely on automated processing.

Where the processing of personal data is based on the data subject's consent, the data subject shall have the right to withdraw the consent given.

If the data subject considers his or her rights to have been infringed, he/she may protect him or herself by lodging a complaint with the Data Protection Guarantor.
